

Ellerbe Fine Foods

Words like quaint don't really do justice to this former gas station. It has been completely transformed into a white tablecloth space complete with an upscale specialty market. The parts are just as important as the whole at Ellerbe, known for its use of fresh and seasonal ingredients. Take, for instance, the Fried Bologna Sandwich. Arugula leaves offer up spicy notes, while interesting heirloom tomatoes and freshly prepared mustard aioli spread compose the chorus, and house-made brioche bread really makes this sliced bologna sing. And a standard Shrimp Po-Boy is one thing, but when you add touches like apple wood smoked bacon, farm-fresh arugula and a freshly whisked remoulade sauce, it is something else entirely. 1501 W. Magnolia Ave., Fort Worth, 817.926.3663

BACK TO BASICS

Our 30 Favorite Soup and Sandwich Spots

by Courtney Dabney photography by Jason Kindig

To satisfy your lunchtime cravings, it's got to be either hot and toasty, melty and cheesy, fresh and crispy, or rich and hearty. Here are some must-try soup and sandwich spots in and around town.